

ACCI HOME STUDY TRAINING

ACCI offers a free two-hour training seminar that demonstrates how its cognitive restructuring curriculum can successfully meet the criminogenic needs of offenders. If a counseling program cannot meet these needs, then it cannot effectively reduce recidivism rates.

ACCI's curriculum has proven to challenge faulty thinking errors and help adult and juvenile offenders overcome their self-defeating thoughts and behaviors. In a sense, most offenders are subconsciously programmed for self-destruction. If we never change criminal thinking, we can never change criminal behavior.

Criminal problems are well understood, but what are the solutions? The objective of this training is to provide evidence-based solutions and demonstrate in real-time the format of ACCI's cognitive restructuring home study workbooks. We also explain how the home study program can be used in conjunction with motivational interviewing and other group oriented approaches.

As part of the training, the trainer will introduce one of ACCI's newest workbooks, New Directions Offender Responsibility Lifeskills Course for Home Study. Some of the topics covered will be:
